

The children had a sandcastle competition. Amy made a palace. Frank made a giant snail out of sand. Anna made a mermaid. Who made the best sandcastle?

‘Let Uncle Fred decide,’ said Amy. They walked all the way to Uncle Fred’s house. They walked all the way back with Uncle Fred.

By the time they got back, the tide had come in. The sandcastles were all gone! ‘Never mind,’ said Uncle Fred. He bought them all candyfloss. That cheered them up! ■
