Edmondstown National School is a Roman Catholic, Co-Educational Primary School operating in the Parish of Our Lady of Good Counsel, Ballyboden, Dublin 16. The school is under the patronage of the Catholic Archbishop of Dublin and operates under the guidelines of the Department of Education and Skills.

In Edmondstown National School, we aspire to cater for the individual learning/educational needs of the child in a caring collaborative environment where the contributions of all the partners in our school community are valued.

Edmondstown National School is situated in the foothills of the Dublin Mountains in a rural setting. The children come from a mixture of backgrounds, both rural and urban. It is a six-teacher school, comprising of four classroom teachers, a Special Education Teacher (teaching principal), a shared Special Education Teacher, who is based in our school, and one Special Needs Assistant. In Edmondstown National School, we encourage equality of participation in all school activities.

Our vision for our children is that they will be "the best that they can be", utilising to the full the gifts that God has bestowed on them. We aim to develop all aspects of the pupil and promote a living relationship with God and with other people. We hope that they will leave our care, secure in the knowledge of their inherent goodness and potential, and go out into the world as agents of change.

Our new motto: "Creideamh, cairdeas, crógacht" encompasses our aims and vision i.e. that the children will be grounded in their Faith, that they will be good Friends to themselves and others and that they will be Fearless in standing up for justice and truth.

In accordance with S.15 (2) (b) of the Education Act, 1998 the Board of Management shall uphold, and be accountable to the patron for so upholding, the characteristic spirit of the school as determined by the cultural, educational, moral, religious, social, linguistic and spiritual values and traditions which inform and are characteristic of the objectives and conduct of the school.
