

Stephen Roche and the Tour de France

The Tour de France is one of the world's longest cycling races. It takes place over 23 days and is around 3,500 km long. The first Tour de France took place in 1903. The race usually starts in a different country but always finishes in Paris. Around 170 cyclists take part in the yearly race. In 1987, Stephen Roche was the winner of the Tour de France.

Read the fact file about Stephen Roche. Complete a fact file about your favourite sportsperson.

Name: Stephen Roche

Date of birth: 28.11.59

Home town: Dublin

Sport: Cycling

Achievements: Winner of the Tour de France 1987 and the Giro d'Italia 1987

Name: _____

Date of birth: _____

Home town: _____

Sport: _____

Achievements: _____

